THE RIGHTS OF THE ROAD

THE EXPERIENCES OF ONE WHO OBSERVES THEM.

Gets the Worst of It on One Side the Road and the Worst Road on the Other Side.

EDITOR STAR:—Apropos of your editorial a few days ago about the law of the road, let me tell you something of my own experiences. In company with a friend I ride in and out on King street every day. As everyone knows who travels King street the road bed on the mauka side is a great deal smoother than that on the makai side. I won't say that my friend and I are better than anybody else, but at any rate we have been in the habit of riding on the right hand side of the road as the law directs. We had no interference going out, for everybody else seems to ride or drive on the left hand side as the law forbids. But coming in our troubles begin, continue and persevere. Everybody we meet is on the same side of the road that we are and insists on our turning out to give them the right of way. And while we have the law on our side, they have numbers and nerve on theirs. The way drivers keep the road and make us turn out or have a collision is something to marvel at. For though we "know our rights and knowing dare maintain," we don't always want to smash a bicycle or break a collar bone in maintaining them.

It isn't alone Pake teamsters and ungodly hackmen who turn us off our side of the road either. I have seen some of our best citizens driving on the easy side of King street with as serene disregard of the rights of the road as any Pake or hackman ever displayed. Is there any way of getting one's rights in this matter.

Honolulu, October 10, 1899.

AT OMAHA.

Pleasant Personal Mention of the Hawaiian Representatives.

OMAHA, September 27.—The Evening World-Herald in today's issue says:

Captain Edward Towse is now in Cheyenne, Wyo., where he will be united in marriage today to Miss Kate M. Bon, one of the society young women of the Wyoming capital. The captain and Mrs. Towse will arrive in Omaha next Sunday to remain until the close of the exposition, after which they will take an eastern trip, thence home to Honolulu, where Captain Towse is city editor of the Advertiser. He is a member of the Hawaiian commission at the Greater America exposition.

Mrs. Daniel Logan, wife of the secretary of the Hawaiian commission, is en route to Omaha from Honolulu, having arrived in San Francisco some days ago. She will arrive at the White City about Friday.

A GOOD THING.

There's one good thing when they feel dry
That business men cannot pass by.
For far and wide it's fame you hear,
They stop to drink of "Rainier" beer.
